

Who we are

The International Academy for Adhesive Dentistry (IAAD) is an international organization and information platform to promote the benefits of adhesive and minimally invasive dentistry among researchers, dentists, dental students, the dental industry, and patients.

The IAAD was founded on June 14th, 2013 in Philadelphia, USA by some of the internationally most respected leaders, clinicians, and researchers in adhesive dentistry. Membership is open to individuals, associations, and manufacturers interested in adhesive dentistry.

IAAD Presidents:

- 2013–2015: Dr. Jean-Francois Roulet
(University of Florida, USA)
- 2015–2017: Dr. Markus Blatz
(University of Pennsylvania, USA)
- 2017–2019: Dr. Lorenzo Breschi
(University of Bologna, Italy)
- 2019–2021: Dr. Marcelo Giannini
(University of Campinas, Brazil)
- 2021–2023: Dr. Mutlu Özcan
(University of Zürich, Switzerland)

The main OBJECTIVES of the IAAD

- Provide an international platform for exchange of knowledge in adhesion in dentistry.
- Disseminate the knowledge and science in adhesive dentistry to dentists and their patients worldwide.
- Bridge the gap between scientific knowledge and clinical application.
- Showcase to dentists and patients the great possibilities and benefits of adhesive and minimally invasive dentistry.
- Offer instructions for adhesive procedures in dentistry (see IAAD Instructions for Members).
- Hold biannual scientific meetings to provide an update on the state of the science and excellence in clinical care, continuing education, and professional as well as social interaction between members and participants.

The IAAD will host its 4th Biennial Meeting in Piracicaba, SP, Brazil on December 3rd and 4th, 2021.
